The Simon de Cyrène Federation creates activity and living spaces for people with brain injuries, in the spirit of Jean Vanier's L'Arche communities. A Simon de Cyrène shared home takes in 6 disabled people, 3 employed assistants and 2 Civic Service Volunteers.

We are looking for motivated people

If you believe that a just society is built on accepting differences and 'encounters with the other'; If you have a high capacity for adaptation, participation and commitment; If you are sharing by nature and have an open and happy temperament,

Then come and share your strengths! Working at Simon de Cyrène is more than an occupation, it is:

- Daring to interact with others, to have shared relationships by creating connections between able-bodied and disabled people.
- Undertaking an original project, founded on the concept of living together, a sign of a commitment to creating a more humane society.
- Being ready to let yourself be transformed by these encounters, which one comes away from a changed person.
- An opportunity for growth in terms of your own life and, professionally, an opportunity to go into meaningful social professions, and a chance to acquire knowledge and skills which will be of great use in your professional life (continued education).

Assignments

- Helping people with their day-to-day life, particularly with basic essential activities (getting up/going to bed, dressing/undressing, meals, washing, shopping with and for residents) while promoting their autonomy
- Assisting people to set and complete their personal projects, focusing on them being involved and responsible
- Actively participate in the life of the shared home, and create a sense of connection and friendliness between the homes within the community (communal outings, leisure activities, festive activities, household tasks, etc.).
- Status: A salaried employee, living permanently on-site

Candidate Profile

- Adhere to the idea behind the project and the values of Simon de Cyrène
- Autonomy, creativity, leadership
- Desired experience (volunteer - employee): work in assisting disabled people and in the medical-social sector
